

IT Field Engineering & Logistics

If your organization has multiple locations across the country, you know how difficult it is to keep everyone connected and working efficiently. With VIMRO, you can expand your team from coast to coast, gaining one call access to trusted talent across town, across the state or across the nation.

- Achieve consistency in service
- Enhance control and accountability of field engineering
- Lower support and maintenance costs
- Connect with experienced project managers
- Improve processes to minimize errors and project costs

What You Need, When and Where You Need It

We specialize in meeting the unique field engineering and logistics needs of companies with widely distributed teams and multiple worksites. Whether we're facilitating frequent office moves, setting up a new location, troubleshooting complex issues, providing break-fix support or playing any other mission-critical role, we offer quality solutions that strictly adhere to SLAs and which are rooted in a firm understanding of business objectives.

A Trusted Extension of Your Team

When you hire VIMRO, you get VIMRO. There's no need to manage a portfolio of freelancers across the country, and no need to worry that we'll sub-contract your project to unknown resources. Our experts perform or personally supervise all the work we do. You'll get to know us. Your team will get to know us. Whatever you need, a trusted hand is only one call away.

Flexible Client-Focused IT Solutions

From enterprise network planning and infrastructure upkeep to IT staff augmentation and cybersecurity consulting, we keep our clients' businesses running – no matter how many locations they have. Every company is different. New challenges arise in every location and worksite. At VIMRO, we're flexible, experienced and qualified to meet any challenge or requirement – and deliver the kind of results that keep us at the top of Fortune 500 companies' preferred vendor lists.

WHAT OUR CLIENTS ARE SAYING

"The VIMRO team demonstrates commitment to me and my organization's success at every turn. In the last five years of working with VIMRO, I have experienced only professionalism, expertise, and dedication. VIMRO is my best services provider!"

- VP, Infrastructure & Technical Operations, Yellow Pages

"VIMRO is our comprehensive provider for networking, remote-hands, and systems monitoring. They did an outstanding job in migrating our datacenter operations from one state to another and have exceeded our expectations with ongoing maintenance and meeting our SLA's. An exceptional, reliable organization managed by dedicated executives."

- Director of IT, MacMillan Publishing

VIMRO is an integrated nationwide IT consultancy dedicated to providing solutions to even the most vexing networking, infrastructure and connectivity challenges. Forget flying internal resources all over the country or hiring an endless stream of local contractors. We're there where you need us, when you need us – wherever "there" might be.

Consistency and Reliability

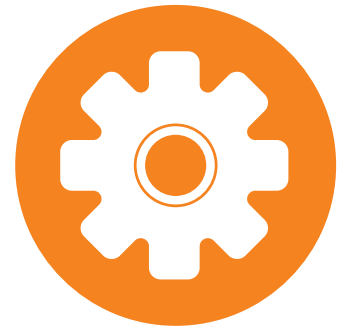

A distributed workforce and multiple office locations require consistency in support and technology deployments. VIMRO's Field Engineering & Logistics Team provides that consistency in the architecture, set up and maintenance of networks, as well as server and user hardware support in the field.

This results in faster and more cost-effective deployments, maintenance and support of your infrastructure. From technology upgrades and hardware configurations, to making sure that things simply work across all your locations, VIMRO is your single, trusted partner – wherever you need us.

Field Engineering and Logistics As-A-Service

Achieve greater business impact from IT through professional services that accelerate business rather than slowing it down.

VIMRO delivers simple on-demand support solutions, predictable costs and a progressive approach. Reduce your IT asset deployment timeline and ongoing support expenses with readily available experts when you need them.
